Quality Doesn't Have to be Expensive

Launching Sept. 15

PRESS RELEASE

evident Is Making Same Day Dentistry Easy With SAREMCO CROWNTEC™ Resin!

Sept 15, 2022: evident today announced a new partnership with SAREMCO to offer CROWNTEC™ resin in the US. This resin is perfect for low-cost permanent crowns, inlays, onlays, veneers, denture teeth, and even same day temporary all-on-x cases.

The evident R&D team found the prints from the CROWNTEC™ resin to be superior in aesthetics, color retention, and strength.

Based in Rebstein, Switzerland, SAREMCO is well-known for over 30 years for its light cured resins, and has now entered the dental 3D printing space with the FDA 510K approved, CROWNTEC™ Permanent Crown Resin.

Chloe Gordon, COO of evident: "As the world's leading dental CAD design center, evident has one goal: to help our customers improve their ROI by using our services. We achieve this by bringing the newest products in digital dentistry to our customers and providing them with world class training & support.

saremco print CROWNTEC™ is the latest in disruptive products that helps dentists and labs produce high-quality restorations much faster. This will be game-changing for patients as now their treatments, such as veneers, dentures and all on x, can be fabricated in hours rather than weeks."

"We are committed to continuous innovation," said Franca Schmid, owner and CEO, SAREMCO Dental AG. "For over 30 years, we have specialized in the development of light-curing resins for restorative dentistry. In recent years, we have been able to transfer our extensive know-how in the field of light curing to 3D printing technology and successfully develop it further. Especially with CROWNTEC's superior physical properties, its simplicity to use, and wide range of indications we reached a new milestone. We are therefore particularly pleased about the strategic cooperation with evident, a globally renowned design center. We are convinced that this joint step will support users successfully and sustainably in their daily work."

saremco print CROWNTEC™ will be available online at shop.evidentdigital.com starting September 15th, 2022.
